

Blue Reef's Authentication Technology Matrix

The following matrix will assist in matching the right authentication method to the customer environment :

If you have		Windows AD Domain clients	Apple Macs on Domain	Novell Clients	Any client requires psuedo SSO support	Windows AD Domain clients with no Java support	Static Servers	Citrix / MS terminal services	Temporary users or guests	No Authentication	Tickets for billing purpose
And Want to Achieve
	You should use the following Sonar Authentication Technology	Authentication when first time browsing or when running login script	Authenticate when first browsing or login script through apple LDAP or windows LDAP	Authenticate when first browsing or login script		Authentication when browsing clientless	Permanent Authentication	Authenticate each user on the terminal	Automatic fully accountable usage with automatic clean up after a period	A baseline default policy for all users as a fallback or baseline security	Temporary but billed usage
	Java SSO Client	√	√	√							√
	Quiet' Java SSO application	√		√
	Java Username/Password Authentication	√	√	√
	Java Soft Token				√
	Simple (Captive Portal) HTML Authentication Page								√		√
	Basic (HTTP header) Auth							√
	NTLM (HTTP header) Auth							√
	Clientless Domain Authentication					√
	Forced IP/MAC Authentication						√
	Default									√	